That is odd. I wonder if it is a very early production '66, on a '65 chassis? Car looks too original to have gone through major modifications.

Any other ideas?

You beat me to the punch...just spoke to the guy right after you called him. Seems OK

Okay, mystery solved.

I spoke with Lee Miller, the dealer who has this car on consignment. Seems like a nice fellow.

The listed VIN in the ad is incorrect - he checked on both plates while on the phone with me, and it is 25437, which is correct for a '66 2+2. Another misprint - the engine is a YH code - 421/338hp 4BBL automatic, not an HO motor as described. He said he had used the owner's info, and would correct the ad.
