

AACA Fall Meet - Hershey, PA

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/10/01 14:52

Next week, Oct 7-9.

If you haven't been to Fall Hershey, you haven't lived. I believe it's the world's largest antique car show & flea market.

I'll be taking my 2+2 there for first-time AACA judging. Been to Hershey for many years, but never took a car to enter the show.

If anyone is going, let me know.

Jack

You people missed a great show @ Hershey.

Weather was perfect (it's usually rainy and/or muddy).

There were 1375 show cars registered, plus several hundred cars of all description for sale in the car corral. I did not see another 2+2 anywhere - very surprising.

Unfortunately I was too busy prepping for the judging to take many photo's to share, but my new friend Greg Fasolt took a bunch of shots of my 2+2. You can view them at Click here for link

Great shots of a beautiful car, I'm still waiting for mine to be delivered. Should be here this time next week. 8lug
