

EZ wiring

Posted by dualquad - 2010/12/08 18:04

---

Has anyone had any experience with EZ wiring?? I just pulled out the late model GM wiring harness from my 52 Pontiac Torpedo back has a 84 Monty wire harness, but I don't like the look of it & alot of Acc. harness's are missing, would rather re wire it than have a "FIRE" Painless seems to be alot more expensive than the EZ kit???

=====

Re: EZ wiring

Posted by dualquad - 2012/04/01 06:54

---

Hey folks haven't been on here in awhile!! Anyway I bought the E-Z harness & it was quite 'easy" to do, simple instructions & took about 2 1/2 days to re wire the 52 Hardest thing was finding a suitable location for fuse box & making brkts. Everything worked when I put the "power to er" & I'm happy with the E_Z kit!!! Pete

=====

Re: EZ wiring

Posted by OldInjun - 2012/04/01 13:14

---

Welcome back, Pete.

I'm not familiar with E-Z wiring, but I used American Wiring in NJ for an engine harness for my '65, and their product & service was great.

=====